

Innovative & Relevant Professional Development for Music Educators

From the mission-driven publishing company, F-flat Books, Learn is an innovative approach to professional development in music education. Through on-demand workshops & courses, music educators can create professional development plans that work for their unique teaching situation.

Learn members not only have access to hours of diverse educational content, they also receive the benefits of being part of a professional learning community, which includes:

- Unlimited access to current and future PD offerings on the F-flat LEARN site
- Live monthly workshops over zoom on a variety of topics in music education
- Support via email and through a private FB community group of like-minded educators
- Discounts and special offerings on F-flat Books curricular resources

What makes Learn different from other professional development offerings in music education ?

- All of the PD offerings are created by veteran educators and clinicians from diverse backgrounds.
- Courses and workshops are offered on-demand and can be tailored to fit the needs of individual educators.
- Learn practices are rooted in equity. All content creators are paid fairly for their work and are active members of the Learn community.
